THANK YOU!
thank you!

It was great meeting and connecting with EVERY third grader's parent either by phone or in person this week during parent-teacher conferences. Thank you so much for making the effort to make this happen. This sends an important message to your child how important his/her education is to you.

Classroom Happenings

~ What we are learning and focusing on this week.~

ELA

In preparation for the Ohio State Reading Tests which will be administered next week, students will be practicing test-taking skills and will be looking at sites and samples to familiarize themselves with this important test. We will look at sample questions and expectations and will be utilizing the OST Readiness site as well as other resources, like Scholastic News, to explore non-fiction text structures and skills.
